Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS Associated Press Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jacqueline Susann, the author-turned magnate—or is it vice versa?—was in town recently to help sell books, confer on the film version of "The Love Machine," gather material for her next book and throw a few barbs at her new enemy, 20th Century-Fox.

A large order for a small lady. But, as the world knows, Miss Susann can handle almost anything she goes after.

She's the novelist who got Columbia and producer Mike Frankovich to shell out $1½ million, plus 10 per cent of the gross returns, for "The Love Machine."

"Mike hasn't made a move without consulting me," she remarked in her Beverly Hills Hotel suite. "He asked me about having Sam Taylor write the script, and I was perfectly delighted. I've talked with Jack Haley Jr., who is going to direct, and I think he's wonderful for it. I couldn't be more pleased with how it's going."

It's a different story with 20th Century-Fox. She's suing the studio for $10 million because of "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls."

Her version of the squabble: Fox asked her to write a sequel to the amazingly successful "Valley of the Dolls"—$20 million in film rentals. She finished an outline which was 90 per cent of a screen play—and they flipped over it; they said it was better than the original."

Her husband, Irving Mansfield, was to produce it.

"When I read the script, I got sick," she remarked. "At first I didn't want to see the picture, but then I decided to go. I went into a theater where only about 17 people were in the audience, and they were talking back and laughing at what was on the screen. I became so ill that I had to leave."

She sued on grounds that Fox had no right to use her title for a film that had nothing to do with her original story.

Asked for comment on Miss Susann's remarks, a Fox spokesman said: "Our only rebuttal is the fact that 'Beyond the Valley of the Dolls' has taken in over $500,000 in the Los Angeles area alone."

The important sporting event held annually at Mount Solon, Va., is the Jousting Tournament held at Natural Chimneys each August.

Want to Really See Acapulco? Take the Sloan Simpson Tours

By JOYCE GABRIEL

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It is over a decade since Sloan Simpson divorced her husband, the late William O'Dwyer, former mayor of New York. It is over a decade since she has been a resident of the city in which she was once first lady. For the last 10 years, Sloan Simpson has been living in Acapulco.

The followers of the Beautiful People know about Sloan. She has gone from fashion model to mayor's wife to Women's Wear Daily correspondent in Acapulco to tour representative for Braniff International there.

BP followers also know about Acapulco, where Merle Oberon Pagliai, dress designer Emilio Pucci, et al. hold court and entertain members of the ambience (Spanish for the Acapulcan in-crowd).

But there are things that even Beautiful People followers don't know about Sloan—or about Acapulco for that matter.

When Sloan first reached the Mexican resort city, it was nearly impossible for her to get a job.

"You need immigrare (working) papers in Mexico before you can get a job," said Miss Simpson, sitting cross-legged on the bed in her room at New York's St. Regis.

When she did get a job, it was as a clerk in a hotel dress shop. Sloan revamped the place, trained the help and decided to rent the shop, but the rent was too high and Sloan left.

An acquaintance confides, "It was very difficult for her the first few years there. People were not kind."

People didn't know Sloan Simpson, either. She is an aggressive, assertive, ambitious, self-reliant woman. She became correspondent for Women's Wear Daily.

"I had the toughest time convincing everyone at Women's Wear that Mexicans do not share New Yorkers' sense of urgency about things," said Sloan, in the husky voice with an accent that keeps one expecting a "dahling" at the end of every sentence.

"I would send them film to be developed and they couldn't understand why I hadn't had it done in Acapulco. It just never would have gotten here in time for their deadline," she said. As a former model and a frequent guest of the ambience, Sloan knows the "ins" and "outs" of Acapulco fashion.

"Everything is more casual there." "And no one wears shoes," she said, wiggling her bare toes after the discomfort of wearing shoes on hot pavements in New York.

"Things are informal during the day," she explained. "Most people walk around in bathing suits. And after five, anything goes except legitimate clothes."

"In Acapulco, women don't ask themselves, 'What will I wear?' when they're going to a party, they ask, 'What do I feel like being?' Things are very costume-y there."

The midi will never make it for daytime wear in Acapulco.

"The heat would make it impossible," said Sloan. "Even slacks appear only after dark."

Miss Simpson devotes most of her time these days to her Braniff job.

When the Braniff people arrived with their inaugural flight to Acapulco, Sloan Simpson showed them her city. Advertising genius Mary Wells and her husband, Harding Lawrence, head of the airline, were impressed with Sloan's knowledge of the city and by her hospitality.

They suggested that Sloan work for the airline as a one-woman traveler's aide society. Sloan became known for Call Sloan, a service through which a tourist could find out about anything from the "ins" to disconcerting where to find an English-speaking chauffeur. Sloan became indispensable to Braniff.

Last fall, Sloan started planning her own special tour of Acapulco for this summer. It is a nine-day affair, offering travelers all the benefits of a tour (group-rate discounts at shops, restaurants and for water skiing and scuba diving lessons) with the most sought-after advantage of traveling alone—privacy.

The tour is not a tour in the usual sense. There is no mass herding of tourists into a bus for interminable visits to museums and the like. The tour is as individualized as possible, with limousines providing personalized transportation and Sloan suggesting places for the guests to choose from.

And, oh, yes, tour members get to meet some of the resident BPs at a cocktail party hosted by Sloan.

Is there any other way to travel?

Maine's 4 Day Lion Hunt Over

WARREN, Maine (AP) — Maine's four-day lion hunt is over.

A 6-month-old African Lion was shot and killed Tuesday in woods near the old Knox Arboretum, where it had escaped Saturday by jumping from a second-story window.

Warden Winfield L. Gordon said hunters were authorized to shoot the lion, a pet, on sight because it apparently had not eaten for four days and would be getting desperate.

Today's hand is the last one of a one-rubber match supposedly refereed by Ely Culbertson some years back. The conditions were that Ely would fine any player for mistakes and, by the time this hand came along, each player was mad at his partner but madder at the referee.

West opened the king of hearts and, after noting his partner's play of the eight-spot, continued with the ace and another heart. A trump shift was clearly indicated, in spite of the come-on.

At this point, dummy pulled out the 10 of trumps and the card had to be played in accordance with the laws of that day. South could have made his contract by ruffing with the queen.

East overruffed and should have played his ace of diamonds but East didn't realize his side had three tricks in. He underled the ace.

South couldn't guess wrong. He held just the king, so he played it. From then on it was very difficult for South to lose another trick and he scored game and rubber.

The players turned and glared at the referee but Ely was never a coward.

He said, "You all get fined. South's two bid was outrageous; West's failure to shift to a trump at trick two even worse; North should learn that dummies are supposed to let their partners play the hand and, finally, East's underlead of the diamond ace had to be worst of all. I bid you all a good night. The next time I'm tempted to act as referee, I'll work off my surplus energy by trying a parachute jump without the parachute."

Says W. Va. City Not Polluted

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Listing Huntington, W. Va. as one of the nation's most polluted areas was "a terrible mistake," says an official of the National Air Pollution Control Administration, and disgruntled West Virginia officials are calling for an apology.

Carl Beard, director of the West Virginia Air Pollution Control Commission, referring to the city's mistaken listing as No. 3 in sulphur oxide pollution, said Tuesday, "We're not letting them off the hook that easy. The city has no major sources of sulphur dioxide."

Leighton Prince, a NAPCA official, said, "Huntington isn't even in the rankings. I don't know how it got there...The mistake is ours."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE NOT ALL ANTI-VIETNAM WAR

Dear Helen:

It seems that because of the publicity and noise anti-war students make, most adults assume all young people are far-left and howling for an immediate pull-out of American troops in Vietnam and elsewhere.

This isn't so. There are just as many students on the right (or too apathetic to care either way) as there are on the left, but we don't get our voices heard.

The Young Americans for Freedom has a membership of 50,000 conservative young people, which exceeds that of all "new left" groups combined.

But Jerry Rubin alone gets ten times the publicity of our entire group. — STUDENT ON THE RIGHT

Dear Student:

My youth mail bears out your statement: It is evenly divided between left and right, war and peace-now, flag-burners and flag-wavers. In fact, those who believe we should be in Vietnam slightly outnumber the ones who feel (as I do) that it's a war we should never have fought.

Here's an example:

Dear Helen:

My brother went to war in December, 1968. He told me not to worry cause he was strong and brave. When the plane pulled out I couldn't help the tears. He never forgot to write.

Then one day he was missing in action. On June 20, we learned that he had died of third degree burns. I cried my eyes out, but I told myself he died for his country.

Now on television you hear of these college kids demonstrating. Don't they know that if we don't fight Communism it will take over and we won't be free any more?

If the Government would let me, I would go and help our soldiers. The ones who are yelling are afraid to lose their lives to keep this country free. — L.A.A.

And an example from the left: Dear Helen:

It isn't cowardice or selfishness or blindness that makes us carry signs which say, "Support our boys in Vietnam — Bring them Home!" My mother is a member of "Another Mother for Peace." Well, I'm another teen-ager for peace.

If it hadn't been for college demonstrations, we probably wouldn't have the timetable for withdrawal. And if it doesn't work out, there will be more riots. This Vietnam mess has just about ruined a country that used to be (so they tell me) united. And for what? So we could keep on saying, "The U.S. never lost a war!" — N.A.M. (but that doesn't stand for 'Nam.)

Sesser, Ill. Is Lawless City

SESSER, Ill. (AP) — This is a lawless city—or nearly so.

That was revealed by city councilmen who said all city ordinances except those governing traffic had been stolen about a year ago.

A group of Sesser's 2,200 residents had demanded this week that aldermen produce an ordinance to support the legality of the city's garbage collections.

"We can't. They've been stolen," said Alderman Sewell Hurst.

Mayor Willie Stubblefield said he found pry marks on an empty file cabinet that had contained ordinances a year ago. Traffic ordinances were in a separate file.

Insects represent about 80 per cent of known animal life, with about 850,000 species having been described, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

QUICK QUIZ

Q-Does the American century plant actually bloom only once in a 100 years?
A-No. Some kinds of century plants flower every year, others bloom less often, but none blooms so rarely as once in 100 years.
Q-Are American Indians required to live on Indian reservations?
A-Indians do not have to live on reserved land in either the United States or Canada, but they usually do so because this land is tax-free.

Minnesota Floors A's 2-1

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Oakland's Bert Campaneris struck the first blow, but the Minnesota Twins landed the last one ... for another one-punch knockout.

The Twins floored the A's 2-1 Friday night on Jim Holt's lead-off home run in the 11th inning as Jim Perry, stung by Campaneris' first-pitch homer at the outset, scattered four more hits to become the first 17-game winner in the majors.

It was the second consecutive sudden-death victory for the Twins, George Mitterwald having beaten California 2-1 Thursday night with a leadoff homer in the 14th, and their ninth triumph in 10 extra-inning games this year.

Elsewhere in the American League, Cleveland tripped Baltimore 10-4; the New York Yankees downed Detroit 5-1; California shaded the Chicago White Sox 6-4; Boston defeated Washington 3-1 and Kansas City swept a two-night twin bill from Milwaukee, 4-0 and 10-2.

In National League play, Pittsburgh trimmed the New York Mets 6-1; Philadelphia beat the Chicago Cubs 4-1; Cincinnati topped Los Angeles 4-2; St. Louis nipped Montreal 2-1; Houston drubbed San Francisco 11-2 and San Diego divided a doubleheader with Atlanta, taking the nightcap 6-1 after bowing 8-2 in the opener.

Perry, 17-9, stymied Oakland after Campaneris' first inning blast and the Twins bounced KK ON Rich's sec-of-inning homer off Catfish Hunter before Holt greeted Marcel Lachemann in the 11th with his first game-winning homer.

The victory gave the West Division leaders a 7-1 edge over the A's this season.

The Indians, hitless against Baltimore's Tom Phoebus for 5 2-3 innings, chased him and bat-

Mets Good Treatment for Moose

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
There are all kinds of treatments to make ailing pitchers feel better. The tonic for Bob Moose seems to be the New York Mets.

The young Pittsburgh right-hander took a shot of Met medicine Friday night and it tasted every bit as good as it did the previous time he faced them, last September.

He didn't pitch a no-hitter like he did then but he did come up with a four-hit, 6-1 victory in which he showed no signs of the arm trouble that had held him to two starts sink he 28.

The complete game victory, fifth in a row for the Pittsburgh pitching staff, shot the Pirates' lead over the Mets in the National League East up to 3 1/2 games.

Other NL action saw Philadelphia down the Chicago Cubs 4-1, Cincinnati edge Los Angeles 4-2, Houston trounce San Francisco 22-1, St. Louis nip Montreal 2-1 and Atlanta beat San Diego 8-2, before losing to the Padres 6-1.

In the American League, Kansas City swept Milwaukee 4-0 and 10-2, Cleveland clobbered Baltimore 10-4, Minnesota shaded Oakland 2-1 in 11 innings, the New York Yankees topped Detroit 5-1, California took the Chicago White Sox 6-4 and Boston downed Washington 3-1.

Belted by Montreal last Sunday, Moose was in control all the way against the Mets. New York's run came in the fourth when Bud Harrelson walked, Ken Boswell singled and Harrelson scored on a doubleplay.

Pittsburgh tied the game in the bottom of the fourth, then broke it open with five in the sixth. Willie Stargell hit his 22nd homer, Moose doubled in a run and 5-foot-4 Fred Patek blasted a three-run homer, his first of the season.

Tony Taylor's pinch, two-run single snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning for Philadelphia and dropped the Cubs 5 1/2 games behind Pittsburgh. Billy Williams, who struck out as a pinch hitter with the bases loaded in the Cubs ninth, extended his NL record of msecutive games played to 1,093.

Trailing 2-1, Cincinnati came up with threekchysighth and opened up a 13-game lead over second-place Los Angeles in the West. Lee May's two-run double was the big blow in the inning.

The Dodgers had taken a 2-0 lead on Tom Haller's two-run homer in the second. Johnny Bench belted his 38th homer for Cincinnati in the fourth.

Doug Rader slammed a three-run homer and John Edwards cracked a two-run triple and an RBI single in Houston's rout of San Francisco.

St. Louis scored runs on Joe Torre's single and a wild pitch by Dan McGinn and Bob Gibson fired a live-hitter against Montreal. It was Gibson's 15th victory against five losses and the Cardinals' 10th in 12 games.

San Diego took the nightcap as Al Ferrara drove in two runs with a triple and a single. Ollie Brown singled home two and Clarence Gaston also singled for the Padres.

BATTING — Jim Holt, Twins, hit a leadoff homer in the 11th inning in a 2-1 victory over A's.

PITCHING — Bob Moose, Pirates, pitched a four-hitter in 6-1 victory over Mets.

TWO WERE WINNERS

John Rotz, Eddie Belmont and Ray Broussard were the only jockeys who this year rode in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Two were winners. Rotz won the Belmont with High Echelon and Belmont took the Preakness with Personality. Broussard was second in the Derby with My Dad George.

WHEN LEO DUROCHER drops a hint, he's pretty subtle about it. He didn't like the idea of a photographer hanging around his dugout, so he picked up a bat and started banging it against the wall, hoping the cameraman would leave. The photog, no hint-taker, stayed.

Pepitone Presents Pepitone:

By JOYCE GABRIEL
NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Chicago Cubs have a new man playing center field, but not long ago that same man, Joe Pepitone, was playing truant from baseball in his hair-styling place Brooklyn.

Joe Pepitone Presents My Place (the name of his five-month-old business venture) sits in Spanish splendor on Flatbush Avenue. A waiting room is done in warm gold and olive green. A three-dimensional, three-quarters profile of a Spanish knight hangs above one couch. An armor breastplate and a lance hang above another. On the opposite wall, there are autographed pictures of baseball figures. The room is carpeted and stained-glass lamps give off rays of subdued light. Rock music permeates the air.

In the hacienda layout, Joe Pepitone reclined on a couch, resembling a latter-day patron.

It was here that Joe learned he was no longer a Houston Astro. After repeated disagreements with manager Harry Walker, Joe had walked out and east to Brooklyn. The Astros sold him to the Chicago Cubs.

He decided to go into the hair-styling business with "a couple of friends" after the publicity his long hair got when he played for the Yankees.

Joe wants to turn his salon-cum-boutique into a nationwide franchise operation. He had planned to stay and learn "all he could" about his venture, but the Cubs have placed him in an awkward position—center field—for being an executive. Still, even with others running the establishment, it's his name over the door.

"It's a great feeling to have my own business," he said. "and I know how to treat my help. They like me, because I treat them like men, not boys."

"That's how I like to be treated. I want to work for a man who knows what he's doing, not for a lion tamer. I don't think even lions could take what I took in Houston." (The "lion tamer" referred to Harry Walker.)

He fingered the St. Christopher's medal exposed by his open collar.

"I mean, you have to do what you want in life, unless there are rules against it," he said. "I have my own convictions and I have to stand by them. The people who sit there and take it are the ones who are really afraid. They have no self-pride."

Pepitone has always followed his convictions—and he has the newspaper clippings to prove it.

"It's like what a guy told me once when I was first starting out: 'When you go down to the minors, if you have problems then, they'll stay with you for the rest of your career.' My first day in the minors I was fined $250 for a water fight."

"I'm interested in writing a book about me," he went on. "I've seen and done everything but I'm still looking for something else, you know?"

"It's like I'm 29 and my body is 78. I can't feel too bad about that, though. I've just started digging myself—I never sat down and thought things out before."

"Now I know I can't please everybody and you can't buy friends. That's what I tried to do. I used to tell my friends, 'Pick up a suit on me' or I'd bring them expensive presents."

"But I've learned from my mistakes and I'm happier—not completely happy—but the good feeling is starting to come back."

The good feeling, however, does not extend to marriage. Joe is separated from his second wife. ("Are you married?" he is asked. "I don't know—I'll tell you tomorrow," he replies, grinning.)

Joe Pepitone sighed.

"I just hope I live to be 40," said Joe, who is 29. "I want to be the same way then that I am now. And, if by some miracle I hit 50, I don't want to change then either. Even if nobody wants me up there (gesturing with his finger) or down there and I live to be 100, I'll stay me because, like, that's what it's all about."

CRIME PRECAUTIONS

CHICAGO (AP) Elderly people often are victims of purse-snatchers and other types of petty crime. The Chicago Police Department suggests these precautions on how retired persons can protect themselves.

- Don't carry a large purse
- Don't carry a large amount of money or important papers
- Don't wait at a mailbox. Thieves may think money is arriving by mail.
- Don't sit outside late at night.
- Don't leave your purse in a shopping cart.
- Call police if you suspect something is happening to threaten your safety.
- Scream only if attacked when confronted by a thief.

STOCKED UP

DAVENTRY, England (AP) The Borough of Daventry doesn't plan to buy any typewriter ribbons, carbon paper or duplicator stencils for some time. A recently resigned borough official bought 19,268 pounds (46,483 dollars) worth of such supplies in the last three years. Independent auditors calculated that at the present rate the borough would use up its supplies in 125 years.

Duffer and the Pro: Whose Honors?

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The World's Greatest Duffer and the World's Greatest Pro were seated together on the dais of the recent All-American Collegiate Golf Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Vice-President Spiro Agnew and Arnold Palmer sat stuffed to the gills in tuxedos as they were honored and in turn helped honor four high school students who won golf scholarships, and eight of the best college golfers in the country.

It was a night for comparisons between two of the best-known people in their fields, two who have expressed some interest—however amateurish—in the occupation of the other.

As a golfer, the vice-president is enthusiastic, but a self-made hazzard. His beaming of Doug Sanders in a pro-am tourney is a part of his hapless legend as a jock.

"I am the Harold Stassen of golf," he said, pricking his own balloon. "I don't win very often, but I'm always ready to tee off again."

But he left the impression that that was O.K., anyway. He said that Republicans were not good golfers, generally.

Vice-President Agnew and Arnie Palmer in jovial mood.

and the Democrats were better. "In eight years of easy swinging, they put the entire country in the hole."

Palmer has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor of Pennsylvania or for other political offices in his home state. He has had a bad hip for the last several years and has not won much; his golfing career is no longer on the upsurge.

Palmer became one of America's golden boys when his dramatic, come-from-behind finishes, his thatch of casual hair, his hanky hanging half out of his pocket because he had more important things on his mind, were being televised as the country discovered the joys of viewing a man putt in their living rooms.

In golf, Palmer is rapidly becoming a man of another generation. In politics, he may already be there. As he introduced the eight All-American golfers, he made special note of their hair. "These boys have haircuts, they are clean-cut looking ... and I'm sure they will continue to do well in college courses and in the business world."

Palmer, a sun-burnished, healthy looking millionaire, went on to say that he is all for the vice-president who "certainly supports the youth of the country. I believe wholeheartedly in what he says and what he is doing about the youth who in many instances need our help."

One thing youth do not need is to be told that they are clean-cut looking—just because their hair is cut short. One must be far, far away with his head in a sandtrap not to understand this. To talk to youth nowadays, you start with the heart—and not, like Palmer, with the hair and the purse. (Of the eight All-Americans, six were in business courses. But one majored in psychology and the other in speech. Is it against the American Dream, which Palmer symbolizes, if these two young men do not decide to open a dry goods store?)

Maybe Agnew, who has also had some growing pains in this area, has come upon such a realization. He noted nothing about their hair. But from his vantage point as World's Greatest Duffer, he has a perspective that the World's Greatest Pro could not—or does not—have. "Golf," said Agnew, "is important to learn companionship, a sense of humility and to be able to overcome personal inadequacy with diligent concentration. It is the greatest disciplining factor I've ever seen."

Self-discipline is necessary for happiness. But who except the barber should be any happier for short hair?

American Conference: CLEVELAND

Hickerson

PROSPECTUS — Shifting leagues won't change impetus of Browns. Should immediately become power of Central Division. This'll be third different league in history of Browns. Come into it with team that's shifting in talent but has hard core to maintain winning record.

Collier

OFFENSE

PASSING—When Bill Nelson's good, he's very good. And when he's bad ... well, ask Minnesota Vikings. Peppery Bill's got to carry load again on scorched knees even if Mike Phipps (Purdue) is being groomed to succeed him. Bill's leadership gets him over tough spots. Rating—B

RECEIVING—Browns could be kidding themselves Homer Jones (ex-Giant) will compensate for Paul Warfield. Homer's great only when mood strikes him. Warfield was superb threat. Of course, Gary Collins was Nelson's favorite receiver, and Milt Morin's superb specimen of tight end. Dave Jones is around for future use. Rating—B

RUNNING—Blanton Collier has always emphasized running game, and he has ideal horses in Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott. Kelly will wow American Conference with way he follows blocking. And ex-Canadian star Scott came on strong once he got acclimated. He'll be pushed by Reece Morrison, a corner. Rating—A-

LINE—Monte Clark finally vacated right tackle spot, but he was operating on bad legs anyhow and had given way to Joe Taffoni. Have rookie Bob McKay of Texas, too. Age of Dick Shoffarth (33), Gene Hickerson (34) make you wonder. But they've been hub of running game so long, Kelly wouldn't recognize them by their faces. John Demaria's almost on par with Hickerson as path-sweeper. Rating—B+

DEFENSE

LINE—Eager to improve pass rush, they've peddled Jim Kanicki to Giants and pushed rangy Marv Uphow into tackle post alongside Walt Johnson. Johnson's prize specimen up front. To get more mobility at end, they're trying ex-linebacker Bob Matheson there. Unlikely he'll beat out Ron Snider or Jack Gregory. But keep an eye on rookie Joe Jones. Rating—B

LINEBACKER—Position-shuffling has put spotlight on Jim Houston, straggled linebacker for a decade. Now he's moved into the middle, where his savvy should protect him, leaving the outside jobs to Dale Lindsey and John Gattington. If the experiment holds, Houston could be a revelation. Rating—B

SECONDARY—Ron Davis missed all of last year with knee injury, and he's welcome back. After all, Erich Barnes is now 35. He can still scare a wide receiver with his chop—but can old Erich keep up with him? So eventually Davis could pair with young Walt Summer. Crafty Ernie Kellerman, Mike Howell are solid at safety. Rating—B+

QUICKEN—Ron Cockroft, who forced so less than Lou Gosz into retirement, handles both placekicking and punting chores (with Gary Collins always available for later duty). Rating—B+

Ever On Sunday

Good old American know-how — you still can't beat it.

A Dallas discount house has found a way to dodge that city's blue laws. The store is allowed to stay open either Saturday or Sunday, but not both. So the chain has set up a special corporation that buys the store on Saturday night, opens for business on Sunday, and resells to the chain on Monday.

Ingenious — but a pity, really, that such originality has to be wasted on something as silly as blue laws. — Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal

See You In Court, Sir

Let it be thoroughly understood! The man next door whose outdoor cooking consists of char-broiled steaks is not — repeat, not — guilty of polluting the environment, or disturbing the ecology. He is guilty of stimulating adjacent appetites. — Nashville (Tenn.) Banner

In Circles

Way things are today, the only way to make ends meet is to run around in circles. — Beaumont (Tex.) Enterprise

Which Way?

Let's see if we understand the stock market now: If it goes up, we're imperiled by inflation; if it goes down, we've headed for a recession; and worst of all, if it remains stable, the economy is at a standstill. — Anniston (Ala.) Star

McClellan Brushes Off Chi Probe

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan has refused the request of two black ministers to take his subcommittee to Chicago to investigate the Black P. Stone Nation, a street gang also known as the Blackstones. "Why do I want to come there and risk my life?" McClellan asked Tuesday. "I don't want to get shot at. I don't go out into a jungle just for the sake of appeasing someone like you."

The Rev. John Barber asked the Arkansas Democrat to take the subcommittee's bombing and terrorism investigation to the Blackstones' turf—a sprawling, poverty-stricken neighborhood which, the minister said, the gang has in a stranglehold.

Barber, a top aide in the Rev. Jesse Jackson's Operation Breadbasket, and the Rev. Curtis E. Burrell, pastor of the Woodlawn Mennonite Church and chairman of the Kenwood-Oakland Community Organization (KOCO), appeared before the subcommittee at the invitation of Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

They said they have been shot at, Burrell's church and home have been bombed and set afire and Burrell has had to close the KOCO office since he fired two gang leaders from the organization's payroll a month ago.

Police and city officials are powerless against the gang, the ministers said, because residents of the area are so numbed by fear they will not sign complaints or testify against any of its members.

WR Warns of Food Shortage

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Thursday the nation must prepare for a time when there will be food shortages.

Rockefeller, speaking to about 1,200 members of the National Association of State and County Office Employees (of the Department of Agriculture) here, said "when the day comes I believe we will be able to rise to the challenge."

The governor said the days of surplus will one day be gone and the agricultural resources of the United States should be protected.

English Teacher at Yerger Succeeds Also in Writing Music

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

Success stories are always good to read about, and when they deal with a home-town boy the interest is even greater. That's why we bring you this story of Edward J. Cooper, eighth grade English teacher at for a poem of hers, as she was not pleased with the tune a Hollywood composer had placed with her song lyrics. Since then, Mrs. Benson has had the song published with all profit going to help her nephew in his ministry among alcoholics in the Houston area.

Concerning his early life, Edward Cooper said, "My father died when I was seven. My mother was bedfast the first five years of my life and then off and on throughout my schooling. She never failed, however, to emphasize the importance of serving God and getting a good education."

Near the end of the ninth grade the ambitious young man began his first music lesson—without a piano. He was determined to succeed and in order to raise money for the coveted instrument, Edward Cooper borrowed a horse and a plow from a neighbor and raised a patch of cucumbers. Getting up at 4 and 5 every other morning and picking cucumbers until noon wasn't an easy job, especially when he had to depend upon some neighbor for a ride to town or else to hitchhike to peddle his produce. But he made $80 and bought a cheap piano.

Often his teacher, the late Mrs. J.E. Reagan of Prescott, gave him free lessons because she thought he was a promising student. When he finished high school and attended Texarkana Junior College a year, he was again grateful to wonderful friends. In Texarkana the Tom Pittman family, formerly of Prescott, boarded him free for that year. To earn extra money, he worked as secretary to their minister at the Rose Hill Christian Church.

Then, he went to Southern State College, where he received a music scholarship, worked in the cafeteria, taught music to children of some faculty members, sold ads one year for the yearbook at a 30 per cent commission, and in 1958 edited the college yearbook—the editing of which paid all his board.

After receiving a degree in music education with a minor in English in 1959, Mr. Cooper was hired to teach 7-12 grade English at Emmet for the following school term. But with only an English minor at the time, he had to reenter college and take several more English courses in order to make that his major teaching field. He taught English at Emmet High School 7 years, and then came to Hope where he has just completed his fourth year of teaching.

Happily married with a home and two children, Mr. Cooper has an optimistic outlook on life. He hopes his enthusiasm might catch on and that his story might prove an inspiration to others who need to "pull themselves up by their own bootstraps." With God's help, it can be done.

Ellen Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McDowell Turner of Hope, and 41 other members of the Hendrix College Choir left Aug. 5 for a five-week singing tour in five European countries: Luxembourg, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, and France.

The choir members are financing the trip themselves. The director is Robert M. McGill and the organist Keith McNoble. In Vienna the choir will attend classes in voice, history, language, at an 18-day symposium at the University of Vienna.

WR to Support Insurance Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Robert W. Faulkner, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's executive secretary, said Thursday that Rockefeller would probably support legislation to set up a separate school self-insurance program if he is elected.

Many local school officials and officials of the state Education Department have been pressing for a self-insurance program because of the rising premiums that the stock insurance companies are charging.

Insurance companies have also threatened to cancel fire insurance on some schools. Faulkner said that Dr. John Peterson, who recently joined the governor's staff, was working to develop a self-insurance program.

"Our concept right now is to have one program for the public schools and another one for state agencies," Faulkner said.

9% Raise Appeals to Mail Carriers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Edward Babbitt, state field representative of the National Association of Letter Carriers, said Thursday that the aspect of the bill creating an independent U.S. Postal Service most appreciated by the letter carriers was the 9 per cent pay raise retroactive to last April.

The bill was sent to President Nixon Thursday for his signature.

Singer Saves Boy's Life

INCLINE VILLAGE, Nev. (AP) — Singer Bobby Darin has been credited by observers with saving the life of a drowning boy.

Darin, fully clothed, leaped into rough water from a motorboat off King's Beach at Lake Tahoe Wednesday when the boy began screaming for help about 150 feet from shore.

The singer said he was grateful the boy was only 20 feet away, because I'm such a lousy swimmer, if it was any farther someone would have had to save us both.

Would End Fireman Job on RRs

By JIM LUTHER

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential emergency board has recommended railroad firemen's jobs gradually be abolished as a means of settling a long-standing labor dispute.

The White House disclosed Thursday the board called for the phasing out of the jobs of most railway firemen. The recommendation won immediate approval of the White House.

The board said the National Railway Labor Conference, which represents more than 130 railroads with 95 per cent of the nation's track, is on the verge of a settlement with the United Transportation Union which bargains for the firemen.

The settlement would combine the duties of firemen and brakemen under a new job classification acceptable to the railroads and union. No new workers would be classified as firemen but no firemen would be fired. The classification would be eliminated gradually through retirement and death.

The White House said the basics of the proposal were worked out by the union and railroads and "therefore it should provide the basis for a long-term settlement to this old issue."

Under the plan announced by the emergency board, union and management negotiators would consider the proposal for 15 days. If no agreement is reached, outstanding issues would go to binding arbitration.

The White House panel recommended that the money saved through elimination of firemen's jobs be used to raise the pay of rail workers.

Tax Package Not Bringing In Revenue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Max Milam, director of the state Administration Department, indicated Thursday that tax increases enacted by the General Assembly in 1969 did not produce the revenue that was anticipated.

Legislators had hoped their tax package would produce about $20 million, but Milam said that the taxes produced closer to $16 million during the last fiscal year.

Milam said it could not be determined accurately just what the new tax laws produced because for several taxes, the natural growth in revenues could not be isolated reliably from the revenues that resulted from the increase.

2 Convicts, Judge Killed in Gun Battle

By TIM REITERMAN
Associated Press Writer
SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — a judge in his black robe of office and three men who marched him and four other hostages at gunpoint from his courtroom were killed Friday in a gun battle outside the Hall of Justice.

Two others involved in the escape try were seriously wounded—a convict and a hostage assistant district attorney. Three women jurors, also taken hostage, suffered lesser injuries.

The drama unfolded during a midmorning trial session in the Marin County Hall of Justice, a blue-domed structure designed by architect Frank Lloyd Wright, 10 miles north of San Francisco.

Witnesses said an intruder in the courtroom brandished an automatic carbine and satchel of pistols, passing them around to three San Quentin prisoners.

The gun battle erupted when they tried to flee in a panel truck. Sheriff's Inspector Ronald Retana said it was unclear whether the first shots came from police or the escapees.

Killed were Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley, 65; convicts James D. McClain, 37, and William Arthur Christmas, 27; and the intruder, identified tentatively by prison officials as Jonathan P. Jackson, 17.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas was shot in the spine and convict Russell Magee, 31, was shot in the chest. Both were hospitalized, Thomas in serious condition and Magee in fair condition.

One woman juror, Maria Graham, 45, was wounded in the arm. She was taken to Letterman Army Hospital, where her condition was called satisfactory.

Two other jurors, Joyce Rodoni and Doris Wittner, were treated for minor injuries and released.

Students Visit With Elderly

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Patty Nelson is the prime mover of the "Spring and Autumn Alliance," a program that has put 50 college students into personal contact with elderly persons.

"It's like going into a library full of amazing, living books," the pert blonde coed says of the students' visits to retirement and rest home. "It brings wisdom for us, and enthusiasm for them."

When the 19-year-old junior came to the University of California's Santa Cruz campus, from Banning, Calif., two years ago, she was haunted by the faces of lonely old people in markets and on the streets.

She asked the college provost, Dr. Page Smith, if she could study the problems of old age. Dr. Smith sponsored her, and she spent weeks reading up on gerontology.

Patty, a literature major, tackled a local retirement hotel first.

"Everyone stared at me," she recalled. "They thought I was just another hippie, I guess."

But she got conversations started by talking about gardening or grandchildren.

"Naturally the reception was mixed. People asked me often: 'Why do you throw bombs?' I always answer: 'I don't throw bombs. We oppose the throwing of firebombs—here and in Vietnam.'"

When the school term ended in June, Patty stayed on in Santa Cruz.

"I really had to stay," she said, adding that she knows some 500 elderly persons in this area well and probably has spoken to groups including that many more.

This fall she plans to expand the program and increase her study of the elderly.

"Now," she says, "I can't imagine meeting an older person who would bore me."

Missing

SCOTT SMYTH

Rosston Boy, 15, Missing From Home

Scott Smyth, 15, shown above, has been missing from his home in Rosston since last Tuesday, and his father has appealed to state police and this newspaper to help find him.

His father, Joe Smyth, will appreciate anyone having seen the boy to notify the state police at once.

Scott is 5 feet 7 inches, weighs 124 pounds, and has brown eyes and dark brown hair. An upper left front tooth is missing.

The boy chews tobacco constantly, and had been sniffing glue for about a week, his father said.

Nixon May Get Standby Price Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic-controlled Congress has moved a step closer to giving President Nixon standby authority to control prices, wages and rents—authority which Nixon has said he would not use.

Voting almost entirely on party lines, a Senate-House conference committee Thursday approved the House action writing the standby authority for ceilings into a bill to extend the Defense Production Act.

Sources said all the Democratic conferees from both chambers voted for the provision and were joined by Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., while all the other Republican conferees voted against it.

The bill now goes to both chambers for final action.

When the House voted 78 to 41 a week ago to adopt the provision, Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., chairman of the House Republican Conference, said, "You are trying to write a little scenario for the 1970 (congressional) elections. This is the most blatant partisanship and political gamesmanship."

But House Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., denied the purpose was to set up an opportunity for Democratic candidates to blame continued inflation on Nixon's refusal to invoke the controls.

He and others argued Nixon needs such a "shotgun in the corner" to strengthen his anti-inflation efforts—even if he never invokes mandatory limits.

Asks Public to Set Noise Standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, in an unusual move keyed to interest in environmental problems, asked the public today to take part in setting engine noise standards for the civilian supersonic transport plane.

Volpe extended the invitation in connection with a Federal Aviation Administration notice of proposed rulemaking. He said the new rules will be aimed at insuring that the new generation of aircraft will be developed in line with the environmental objectives of the department.

Several individuals and groups have voiced concern that the SST would be too loud on the ground and when flying would blast the ground with damaging sonic booms.

Red Offensive Running Out of Steam

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian strike forces backed by fighter-bombers fought their way into full control of the heavily damaged crossroads town of Skoun as a one-week Communist offensive on the northern front seemed to be running out of steam, the Cambodian high command reported today.

A military spokesman said Cambodians recruited and trained by U.S. special forces in Vietnam recaptured the town Friday, ending a seven-day occupation by the Communist troops.

Skoun, a district headquarters 40 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, was considered the most critical point for the government during the broad northern offensive that started Aug. 1.

The spokesman said the Cambodians lost 10 men killed in recapturing the town, and a commander at the scene told Cambodian journalists he believed about 500 Communist troops had been killed during the week of fighting.

Air strikes covering the Cambodian counterattack came from the U.S. and South Vietnamese air forces as well as Cambodia's tiny force of T28 fighter-bombers.

Five Cambodian troops were wounded during the action.

The fighting early Saturday involved a Communist unit attempting to infiltrate Phnom Penh itself, the spokesman said. But enemy pressure on the capital now is quiescent, vamped to lull and une when a major attack on the capital by a large force seemed imminent, he added.

Elements of nearly a division of Communist troops hit the Siem Reap airport with mortars during the night and fired on a hospital with automatic weapons for one hour. Siem Reap is 160 miles northwest of Phnom Penh.

At Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of the capital, encircled government troops reported their positions were hit by 70 rounds of enemy mortar fire during the night.

195 Highest Lottery No. to Be Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr said today lottery number 195 apparently will be the highest called in the 1970 draft.

Tarr set 195 as the ceiling for draft calls in September—the same as in August—and said it apparently will remain stable for the rest of the year.

That means that eligible men who drew numbers higher than 195 in the draft lottery held last December and who were exposed to the draft this year are virtually safe from induction.

Barring any unforeseen emergency, Tarr's announcement means the end of a tense waiting period for men holding those upper numbers.

In 1971 a new group will be exposed to the draft—those who drew lottery numbers in the second drawing, held July 1.

Tarr's announcement coincided with that of the Defense Department's notice of draft calls for the rest of the year: 12,000 for September; 12,000 for October; 8,000 for November, and 7,000 for December.

Factory in Star City to Close

STAR CITY, Ark. (AP) — Byrd Manufacturing Co., a Star City garment factory employing about 700 persons, will close in two weeks.

Harold Evans, plant manager, said reasons for closing were because of economic conditions in the industry, particularly the pressure of competition from foreign countries, and internal labor disputes between employees, management and union organizers.
